

Pamela D. Smith is a Wife, Mother, and award-winning author based in Ruston, Louisiana. Pamela helps women refine character, deepen confidence, and gain clarity in their calling, through prayer, so they can gracefully navigate life, family, and work. Drawing from both her faith and her corporate experience, Pamela has a special heart for women balancing careers, businesses, and personal responsibilities. She believes prayer equips women not only for spiritual growth but for the everyday decisions and relationships that shape their lives.

Pamela D. Smith has spent a lifetime discovering that some of life's greatest transformations happen in the quiet moments of prayer. What she thought would be an easier assignment became the foundation of a calling that has led her to prayer gatherings, faith-based events, and women's conferences, where she leads prayer and host book signings for faith-based and inspirational authors.

A writer since childhood, Pamela sees books as a ministry method. Her award-winning, bestselling book, While at the Altar, and her forthcoming release: Gracefully: Prayers for Character, Confidence, and Calling, invite readers to view prayer not as another task on the to-do-list, but as the posture from which life is lived. Her work has earned recognition through honors including the Presidential Lifetime Achievement Award, the Deborah Rising Award, the La Paz Community Award, the Allstate Golden Compass Award, the Literary Titan Award, and the It's In A Book Award. She is also a member of the National Association of Christian Ministers.

Guided by 2 Corinthians 12:9 , Pamela hopes to be remembered not for the words she prayed but for living a life where prayer was a steady and faithful posture. Through her writing, praying, and book signing hosting, she continues to encourage women to approach every season with grace and confidence. Pamela is available to lead prayer, host book signings, and collaborate on written media opportunities.
